TOSSUPS

1. After being educated at the Royal Military College at Sandhurst, he went on to fight in the Burmese and Punjab wars in India, but later turned his attention to topography. His survey work in Kashmir and Bhutan led to a number of scientific papers. For 10 points, name this British soldier and topographer, whose claim to fame is the 28,250 foot mountain in the Indian Himalayas named for him. (Henry Haversham Godwin-Austen)
2. He was instrumental in the creation of the New York Rangers hockey team in 1926, but soon left after a dispute with Madison Square Garden management. The next year he bought the Toronto St. Patricks, renaming them the Maple Leafs and leading them to the Stanley Cup title in 1932, ironically, over the Rangers. Inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1958, the award given to the MVP of the playoffs and the Division which includes Calgary and San Jose are named for him. For 10 points, name this hockey pioneer, who died in 1980. (Conn Smythe)
3. His first term lasted only 8 months, as he was ousted for proposing a protective trade tariff. The second term lasted 5 years, and featured the quelling of a labor strike and a visit to Canada. The third term, lasting 2 years, put him into the limelight once again, this time for being the catalyst for Edward VIII's abdication for the love of an American divorcee. For 10 points, who was this British statesman, who served as prime minister between 1923 and 1937? (Stanley Baldwin)
4. The male of this species ranges from 7 to 8 inches in length, while the female is slightly smaller and lays 4 to 6 irregularly marked eggs at one time. Its namesake baseball team has, in recent years, laid some eggs of its own...21, in fact, at the beginning of the 1988 season. For 10 points, what is this popular songbird, noted for its stunning orange and black plumage? (Baltimore Oriole)
5. In September of 1991, she replaced syndicated TV talk-show diva (dee-va) Sally Jessy Raphael as host of ABC Radio's 3-hour weeknightly talk show. She's literally bringing the listener into her living room, because that's where the majority of her shows are based. For 10 points, name this journalist, whose 16 month stint as co-host of The Today Show will go down as one of the most tumultuous in history. (Deborah Norville)
6. The first ones were carved on wooden sticks and stone tablets. As early as the 12th century they were written on parchment and, in

1476, German mathematician Johannes Muller printed a version in both red and black ink. The genre, once focused strictly on astrological predictions, now includes Whitaker's, Reader's Digest, and Information Please. For 10 points, name this type of book. (Almanac)

7. He lectured for 12 years at Odessa in zoology and comparative anatomy, but resigned to pursue a career in research. As director of the Pasteur Institute in Paris, his studies of intracellular digestion in invertebrates led to the theory of phagocytosis (fag-oh-sigh-toe-sis), the effects of certain white blood cells on harmful materials in the bloodstream. For his work, he shared the 1908 Nobel Prize in physiology with German Paul Ehrlich. For 10 points, name this Russian biologist. (Ilya Mechnikov, or Metchnikoff)

8. Though English counterpart Joseph Priestly is credited with discovering oxygen, he was actually the first to prepare the element from various oxides. He also discovered six other elements, including chlorine, barium, and nitrogen, and prepared a number of compounds, like hydrogen sulfide. For 10 points, name this Swedish chemist. (Karl Wilhelm Scheele)

9. A native of Zanesville, Ohio, and a graduate of MIT, he established his own architectural firm in 1882. In 1896, he designed the Minnesota state capitol at Saint Paul and the US Customs buildings in New York in 1907. Other major projects include the Detroit Public Library (1921) and the Woolworth Building in New York City, which, up until 1930, was the world's tallest building. For 10 points, name this American architect, who died in 1934. (Cass Gilbert)

10. After falling ill in 1878, he left his native England to practice medicine in South Africa. He would become the administrator for a mining region there in 1891 and helped put down a native revolt in 1894. He also led the unsanctioned attack on the Transvaal in 1895 and served 10 months in prison after his forces were defeated. For 10 points, who was this British doctor and statesman, whose ill-advised raid sparked the Boer War? (Sir Leander Jameson)

11. They started out in the Wharf Theater, a remodeled fishing boat, in 1915, and were the vehicle for Eugene O'Neill's first production, "Bound East for Cardiff" (1916). Later that year, they moved to Greenwich Village in New York and produced around 90 new plays, including works by e. e. cummings and Edna St. Vincent Millay. For 10 points, what was this experimental theater group, active until 1929, and named for the Massachusetts town in which it was first formed? (Provincetown Players)

12. Head of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute for Physical Chemistry from 1928 to 1945, he and Austrian physicist Lise Meitner discovered protactinium in 1918. Later on, he would team up with fellow German Fritz Strassmann to discover the fission of neutron-bombarded uranium. For his efforts, he won the 1944 Nobel Prize in chemistry. For 10 points, name this chemist, who lends his name to Element 105 of the Periodic Table. (Otto Hahn)

13. A reporter for the Toronto Globe and a fellowship recipient in political science at Harvard, he helped organize Canada's labor department and served as its deputy minister until 1908, when he was elected to serve North Waterloo in parliament. In 1919, he succeeded Sir Wilfrid Laurier as leader of the Liberal Party and, in 1921, began the first of three terms as prime minister. For 10 points, name this Canadian statesman, who died in 1950. (William Lyon Mackenzie King)

14. A textile engineer and spinning-mill director by trade, he became head of Leningrad's Communist party in 1938 and during the German siege of World War II helped evacuate over half a million people from the city. In 1948, he became a member of the Soviet Politburo and in 1959 chaired the State Planning Commission. From 1960 to 1964 he and Anastas Mikoyan shared the post of first deputy premier, then he served alone until shortly before his death in 1980. For 10 points, name this Soviet statesman, whose tenure was overshadowed by Brezhnev. (Aleksey Kosygin)

15. Among the more notable reforms he made were the approval of a new constitution which granted women's suffrage, the sale of the Danish West Indies to the US, and the development of the Danish merchant marine. He was also the last king of Iceland, as it became a republic in 1944. For 10 points, name this king of Denmark, who reigned from 1912 to 1947. (Christian X)

16. Originally dwelling in the vicinity of the Gatineau River in what is now Quebec, they were drawn into a mortal struggle with the Iroquis by the French explorers and colonists they had befriended. Only 2,000 descendants of this tribe remain, and they are scattered about eastern Canada. For 10 points, name this Indian tribe, which includes the Cheyenne and Ottawa Indians, and lends its name to both a widely-used linguistic stock and a famed literary circle. (Algonquin)

17. Sixty-one-year-old Ettore Capriolo survived a July 3, 1991, stabbing in his apartment in Milan, but 44-year-old Hitoshi Igarashi was stabbed to death a week later in his Tokyo office. The attacks weren't directed so much at them but at the book they translated into their respective tongues. For 10 points, name this 1989 bestseller, which still has its author, Salman Rushdie, in hiding. (The Satanic Verses)

18. At the age of 15, he joined the Communist party and served in the Red Army. He later served for over twenty years in various posts in the Hunan Province, but in 1973, Mao selected him to sit on the Chinese Politburo. In 1975, under Chou En-lai, he became deputy premier and public security minister and the next year became premier and Communist party chairman. For 10 points, who was this Chinese statesman, who had relinquished both posts by 1981? (Hua Guofeng)

19. Among its honorees are Theodore Freeman, Charles Bassett, Robert Lawrence, and the crew of the shuttle Challenger. Manly Carter, who was to have helped with its May 9, 1991, dedication, is also honored because he died in an April plane crash near Atlanta. For 10 points, name this monument, located at the Kennedy Space Center, which commemorates all those who have died in their quest for the heavens. (Space Mirror)

20. A native of Deer Lodge, Montana, and a graduate of North Dakota, he spent 11 of his 13 NBA seasons as a New York Knick, and was an All-Rookie selection in 1973. After retiring in 1980, he served as an assistant coach at New Jersey for three seasons, and coached from 1982 to 1987 at Albany of the CBA, winning 134 games, and in 1985, coach of the year honors. As an NBA coach, he has racked up 141 wins and a world championship. For 10 points, name this man, head coach of the Chicago Bulls. (Phil Jackson)

21. He taught physics at Leeds from 1909 to 1915 and chaired the physics department at London from 1915 to 1923. Among his major accomplishments were the invention of the hydrophone, used to detect submarines, during World War I, and pioneering the study of crystal structure by measuring X-ray diffraction. For his efforts, he and his son shared the 1915 Nobel Prize in physics. For 10 points, give me the full name of this British scientist, who was knighted in 1920. (Sir William Henry Bragg)
(Note: If player comes in with Bragg, ask for more information, because his son was Sir William Lawrence Bragg.)

22. He murdered his father-in-law to avoid giving the gifts he promised for his bride, but was purified by Zeus, who brought him to Olympus. While there, he tried to seduce Hera, but Zeus formed a cloud in her image to trick him and made him father of the monstrous Centaurs. For 10 points, who was this mythological character, fastened to a fiery wheel that revolved forever in the underworld? (Ixion)
